

LINER GOES ON ROCKS

Passengers Have a Narrow Escape. Fishermen Go to Their Rescue

St. Johns, N. F., Sept. 6.—Thrilling scenes attended the loss of the Allan line steamer Laurentian, bound from Boston to Glasgow which piled up on the rocks near Cape Race during a dense fog at 6 o'clock this morning. The vessel is a total wreck, but the fifty passengers and forty members of the crew escaped to land after a trying experience.

The steamer rebounded heavily when she struck, the shock throwing most of the passengers from their berths. They stampeded for the decks without stopping to dress and for half an hour much excitement prevailed.

A stiff northwest wind banged the ship about and the situation became so serious at 7 o'clock that orders were given to put the boats over. Twenty-five of the passengers, mostly women and children were placed in the first boat but unluckily the boat tackle collapsed and several persons were thrown into the sea.

Captain Inrie had ropes thrown over the side and within fifteen minutes those who had been immersed were drawn to the deck.

Finally six more life boats were put over and the passengers transferred to them. The seas, however, constantly drenched the shipwrecked people and it was only by constant bailing that the life boats were kept afloat.

About ten o'clock, after the boats had been adrift two hours, a boat from a nearby fishing village was sighted. The fishing boat piloted the life craft to a harbor where the passengers and crew were cared for by the fisher folk. A steamer left St. Johns to-night to bring the shipwrecked people to this port.

The Laurentian was built at Greenock, Scotland, by R. Steele and Company in 1873 and for many years was named the Polynesian.

DON'T GET CONFUSED.

Don't let the new jury law get you mixed on the constitutional amendment. The new jury law is passed. It is a law. It is not before the people for a vote, and the man who talks jury law to you to prejudice you against the constitutional amendment acknowledges the weakness of his position. We have not heard of its being done in any other county but Houston, but in this county many men believe from what some of the politicians are saying that they will have a vote on the jury law.

The Constitutional amendment is printed in another column of this paper, that the reader might see what he is expected to vote on.

As to the jury law, we see but one or two bad features to it. Don't know that we see but one, and it isn't bad enough to object to seriously. We hardly think it necessary for the jury commission to be appointed by the governor. We think our county officials could pick a jury, by following the rules laid down by the jury law.

We have gone to some little trouble in investigating the list of men who have been called upon to serve on the jury of Houston county during the last five years. We have not gone into it with a view of passing on the qualifications of each, but we got the list and copied it, merely to show what we had long thought to be the truth—that the men who have been serving on our juries are good men, good average citizens we think; but the method of selecting them hasn't been just and fair to all. We know of good men who have lived a lifetime in one neighborhood, and who have never been drawn on the jury; and then we know men who are on the jury nearly every year. Some of them are drawn at each term of the court, but the judge sets them aside, when this is discovered.

The method of selecting a jury in the past is not a good one. During four or five years, we can name a dozen men who have been on the jury every year, and can find a thousand men in the county who have never served on the jury, or who have never been drawn on the jury. When it becomes that fine, it's time all the names are put in the jury box and after the undesirables are fished out, let that box be used till it is emptied. If this is done, you will see that no one citizen will get on the jury, in the regular manner, oftener than once or twice in ten years, instead of ten times during that length of time.

We are not criticizing the men who are so fortunate, or so unfortunate, as to be drawn on the jury. We have no say-so in the matter, but the men who draw the jury have a list, or select one from memory, and their memory goes back to their acquaintances and friends, as pursuing the old list will show.

We of course know nothing of who will be on the jury at the full term of court. The list has not been opened yet, but we will give a year's subscription to the Eagle, if we can't name one-third right off. We are ready now to make a list, to be filed away, and when the jury box is opened, we will show that our list contains at least one-third of the jury, and names and initials will be correct. We think we can do that by studying the past jury lists. We have all the names of the old jurors before us, and we can name now, four out of twelve, we believe.

We may have 2,000 or 2,500 men in the county who are qualified to do jury duty. Your cases in Houston county have been tried by less than 500 people during the last five years, and if the old system of rotating them is kept up, the same 500 will serve till they die, or move out of the county.

So, after all, the new jury law isn't so bad.

ROBBED OIL HOUSE CASH DRAW.

ELECTRIC POWER FOR DOTHAN IS ASSURED

Council Closed Deal Last Night with Abbey Power Co. for 300 Horse Power for $10,000 a Year. Work to Commence by December 1.

The City's offer to pay $10,000 for 300 horse power was accepted last night by the Abbey Power Company. This city is to take 300 horse power, delivered in the city, and as much more as its needs require, at the same rate. The company, by this agreement is required to bring as much as 2,000 horse power to the city. This requirement was a wise one, for it offers great inducement to enterprises which might want electric energy.

The contract has not been drawn, but the main points were thoroughly gone over and threshed out, and a satisfactory agreement was reached. The city had already made this offer and it was simply a matter of the Company's acceptance of its terms.

Mr. Zeigler, Chief Engineer for Zeigler & Company, was before the council, as was also Dr. C. J. Owens and Mr. Pollard, of Abbeville.

The date on which the work is to start was not settled on, but the Company expressed the idea that it could begin work by December 1, and thought that the work could be completed within 18 months, but some of the council insisted upon having the contract require the work completed within twelve months. This will be settled when the contract is drawn. But in any event, it is thought that the company will begin work promptly and push it through to completion at the earliest possible date.

The power is to be generated from the Big Abbey, a creek that heads up in Barbour county, flows down near Abbeville, and into the Chattahoochee river, about nine miles north of Columbia. The point where the power house will be put in, will be about twelve miles north of Columbia, about four miles from the Chattahoochee river, and about twelve miles from Abbeville, and about sixteen miles from Headland. On an air line, it is about twenty-five miles from Dothan.

The Abbey Creek is supplied by springs and branches in Henry and Barbour counties. It never dries up, or runs down to where it couldn't afford water sufficient for all the power that it would be required to furnish.

Engineers who have gone over the ground thoroughly, believe that this is an ideal location, and think that sufficient energy can be created to furnish not only Dothan all the current it will require, but that Headland, Abbeville and many other smaller places can be supplied with current.

Zeigler & Co. have the reputation of successfully developing water power whenever they have taken hold of a proposition, and those who know of the company doubt not that this job will be put through to completion, and that Dothan will have water power here to offer the enterprises that might require it.

Mr. A. L. Kelly, of the Chattahoochee Power Co. was present, but had no offer to make the council, he said. His company had refused to accept the town's offer, some time ago.

NEW SCHEME.

United States deputy marshals E. N. Winters and A. B. Vickory left today for Montgomery with a man who had invented a new scheme of getting something for nothing, and who had succeeded very well until he was arrested by these two gentlemen.

It seems that this man and his partner, the names of neither being learned, had been nearly all over town and sold revenue licenses to the negro merchants, permitting them to sell whiskey, and up to the tune of their apprehension, had done an exceedingly good business. If they had really been revenue officers and their licenses genuine, in a week's time nearly every negro store in "frog-town" would have been converted into a saloon. But the two Revenue men got on to the trail of the would-be's and walked up on them in a restaurant in Dixie, catching one of them while the other, running out the back door of the building, gained his freedom.

When found in the restaurant, one of the bogus revenue men was asleep on a lunch counter, while the other was playing cards on another counter nearby, and when officer Winters spied the latter, he walked in, watched the game awhile and then called the suspect aside, telling Mr. Vickory to watch the other while he slumbered on. No sooner were the two out of the building when Mr. Winters called Officer Vickory out to help him put his man in the buggy. The other by this time had awakened from his sleep and when he saw his little game was up, he immediately began to hunt a way to escape. The two officers hearing a noise turned their heads just in time to see him jump over the lunch counter and dash out the back door. Although a diligent search was instituted, he has not yet been found. His friend, a sadder and wiser man, is riding the Coast Line into Montgomery, where he goes, probably, to accept a position for an indefinite period.

Rev. Turner, who will be remembered by those who heard him preach last year in the tent over by the big bridge, is in the city today on his way to Florida, where he goes to hold a meeting.

Messrs. Andrew Barnes and C. F. Baker have returned from a trip through the country to Gantt, Covington Co., and returning by Enterprise and Hawes Ridge.

FEDERAL PLUMS IN MONTGOMERY OFFICES

Those who are versed in the workings of the Republican politics of Alabama predict interesting fights to accompany the appointment to two Federal offices in Montgomery. The appointments are to the offices of District Attorney and District Marshal. Both will be filled in December and the present incumbents of both are to be opposed by other applicants.

Erastus J. Parsons, the present Federal District Attorney for the Middle District, is opposed by Warren S. Reese of Montgomery, and it is said that he has not the endorsement of the powers that be in the State. He has an endorsement of a number of his Democratic associates of Alabama, as a petition advocating his re-appointments was circulated through the State Senate during the extra session, but how far this will go or what effect it will have on the appointment by the President is not known.

J. H. Judkins, the present United States Marshal for the Middle District, is opposed by R. E. Walker of Millstead, and T. O. Bingham of Montgomery, according to the present dope, although how the line-up of the administration forces on this job stands is not known.

PRINCE IS GIVEN PRELIMINARY TRIAL

A M. Prince, charged with cutting his wife's throat some time ago, was given a preliminary hearing yesterday, and allowed $3,000 bail by Judge Leslie. There were only two witnesses, Mrs. Prince and a man named Thompson, who was passing the house at the time for the occurrence. Prince was not put on the stand at all.

Hon. W. L. Lee of Columbia is in the city today.

ALSO FINDS THE POLE

Lieut. Peary Reports He Nailed Stars and Stripes to the North Pole

The report was flashed over the world yesterday afternoon that Peary has found the north pole. The wire came from Indian Harbor, N. F., and read "Stars and stripes nailed to north pole, Peary."

This may or may not be from Peary. It may be the work of a practical joker, or it may be one of those strange coincidents. It is not known whether Peary got there first, or whether Dr. Cook made the find. It doesn't state whether he saw any signs about the pole, or the brass tube. It might be that both men have found it, and neither discovered any signs of the presence of the other.

The mystery will all clear up by and by. The pole is not considered undiscovered any longer.

The noted explorers who didn't believe that Cook had found it, express their belief that Peary has.

There is honor enough for both of them, if they will use it judiciously.

AT WORK AGAIN ON THE FEDERAL BUILDING

The work on the federal building has been placed under the supervision of Mr. Edwards, of Rome, Ga., and work has started again.

The plumbing contract has been awarded to Webb and Johnson of Montgomery, and their men have already begun to make preparations for the laying of pipes. The brick contractors and layers are also here, and, provided there is no other hitch, as is expected, the building of the edifice will go right on without further delay.

M. CHERRY

THAT AMENDMENT.

Some of our readers have been told that the proposed amendment is about the meanest thing that ever was proposed to be put in the constitution, and we have been asked to publish it again, that it might be read, and studied diligently. Here it is:

Sec. 1. That the following amendment to the constitution of Alabama is hereby proposed to be submitted to the qualified electors of the State for their consideration at an election to be held on the first Monday after the expiration of three months from and after the final adjournment of the present session of the legislature at which the amendment is proposed, to wit: Art. XIX, Sec. 1. The manufacture, sale and keeping for sale of alcoholic and malt liquors and other intoxicating beverages shall be forever prohibited in this State; but alcohol may be sold for medicinal, scientific and mechanical purposes, and wine for sacramental purposes, under such regulations as the legislature may have prescribed or may hereafter prescribe. Sec. 2. Nothing in the constitution of Alabama shall be construed to prevent the legislature under the police power from designating places where such liquors may not be stored or kept.

That it shall be the duty of the governor to give notice by proclamation to be published in one newspaper in each county in the state at least eight consecutive weeks next preceding the said election or the amendment proposed by this act to be submitted to the qualified electors of the State for their consideration.

3. That at the general election to be held as herein provided the qualified electors shall vote upon said amendment, and on the official ballots printed for such election there shall be printed the following, viz: "Shall the following be adopted as Article XIX of the Constitution of Alabama: Sec. 1. The manufacture, sale and keeping for sale of alcoholic and malt liquors and other intoxicating beverages shall forever be prohibited in this state; but alcohol may be sold for medicinal purposes, under such regulations as the legislature may have prescribed or may hereafter prescribe. Sec. 2. Nothing in the constitution of Alabama shall be construed to prevent the legislature under police power from designating places where such liquors may not be sold or kept. Yes, No." The choice of the elector shall be indicated by a cross mark made by him or under his direction opposite the word expressing his desire.

That's it. That's the whole thing, which wouldn't be so long, but we copy the same wording which appears on the ballot. We want every voter in the county to cut it out and learn it by heart. You may hear some of the stump speakers claim that other stuff is in it. Then you can look over this.

Don't let the jury law delusion get you mixed. The jury law is a thing that has been passed. It is not up for consideration at the coming election. Whether it is good or bad, we will try to show you in the future, but cut it from the present campaign.

A WISE THING.

The Dothan Eagle believes that the town acted wisely last night by closing a trade with the Abbey Power Co., for 300 horse power to be delivered to the city. The city will have the privilege of using as much more as it needs at the same rate, and reserves the right to furnish all consumers who use 5 horse power or less, giving the company the right to supply all above this. The company is also required to bring as much as 2000 horse power into the city, which is a good arrangement, for it makes certain that they will install a plant of sufficient capacity to furnish energy for manufacturing purposes, or for any other purpose for which electricity can be used.

At times it has looked as though the council had cold feet, and might be acting against what seemed to be the best interests of the town. The terms of this trade are much better than those which they had previously been offered. It is an acceptance of the town's own proposition, and, in the end, will prove a good trade; so we can all forgive the council for its seemingly dilatory course in the handling of this matter. It is possibly the best thing it has ever done, to wait.

RASE NO ALARM TILL DANGER IS SIGHTED.

We have always held that we people of this world learn things mightily slowly. Here the other day a young man was in bathing, and a bright idea struck him. He cried out for help, and pretended to be going down. When help reached him, he laughed. When a new crowd came, he fooled them, and was having as much fun as a kid in a pond. But he got out too far, in deep water, and yelled for help. He needed help, but the help was putting on its clothes and fixing to go. Help stood on the bank and looked at the young man drown. He finally told them that he wasn't joking, that he was ever so earnest about it, but the crowd was wise. They knew the reputation that young man had, and they didn't go near him. It was after he went down and stayed, that they found out that the fool really did need help.

Some of us have a smattering idea about the boy minding the sheep, who thought of how funny it would be to cry wolf, and see his father, and the boys, and the neighbors come running. He saw them take a few laps, and the wolf did come, but the boy's cries brought no assistance.

There's a lesson in not creating an alarm till danger is sighted.

THE DIFFERENCE.

There are a great many people of today who think that finding the north pole is a less perilous expedition than Col. Roosevelt's hunting trip to Africa. But it's not. Of course, we've never hunted any of these big shaggy-headed lions, neither have we ever been far enough north to begin to feel the Arctic atmosphere, but from the reports the explorers bring back, there is evidently a great amount of difference in the two. Facing a hard-blowing wind, with no companions but the Esquimaux, living off tallow candles and not hearing a word from home for a year or two, is quite different indeed from going over to Africa in a private boat, where you will be met by hundreds of the native potentates, and the photographers, don't leave them out—and sheltered up to a swell hotel up in a coconut tree, where you brush up from your tiresome trip across the pond. Then you hire a number of private guides, have your guns well oiled up, see that your body guards are well drilled, and start out. Far ahead of you are a number of big bucks with rings in their noses and a piece of ivory hanging to their ears as big as a nickel watermelon; these are to crowd the lion into the corner of a crevice in the rocks and beat him nearly to death so that his highness, Col. Roosevelt may shoot the Berce brute. It takes a brave man to do all of this.

But the main thing is when he gets back from his tiresome and so-called dangerous trip that night, and Kermit begins on his great task of developing the kodak films, while the ex-president sits down on a three-legged stool and hummers off a few words for a magazine "over in the old country." Of course his story is to pertain to his lion hunt, but every few lines he must put down a few words about "my policies." And to think he gets a dollar a word for it. A dollar a word! A hundred words, a hundred dollars; a million words and he'll be a millionaire! And early next morning he must be up and off the large hippos, etc.—he calls it early, say about 10:30 or 11 o'clock.

Now, don't you think there's just a little difference? One has a cinch; the other, hardships almost unbearable.

Whereas, on August 29th Mr B G Farmer who has been Superintendent of the Dothan Baptist Sunday School for about seventeen years, saw fit to tender his resignation as Superintendent we therefore wish to submit the following resolutions

1st Mr Farmer has been with the Dothan Baptist Church practically from its beginning and has shown most splendid zeal for its growth and prosperity Many of the people now occupying positions of prominence in Dothan learned to hsp their first Sunday School songs under the enthusiastic leadership of this distinguished man

2nd Mr Farmer has been a deacon of the First Baptist Church for a long period of years and the Board of deacons will feel the loss of his advice and counsel in their meetings and deliberations As a deacon Mr Farmer has by his pocket book and his counsel stood for the larger and liberal development of our church in all of its material phases

NEGRO FRATERNAL AND BENEVOLENT SOCIETY Organization Now in Session at Colored K. of P. Hall.

At 10 30 o'clock Monday morning, Supreme Master W H Ward of Montgomery called the organization together in grand session in the Knights of Pythias Hall on Pryor street

The opening exercises were a special feature and were preceded by a song and prayer services of a very fervent nature.

The gathering has made a very favorable impression upon the casual observer. W H Ward is comparatively a young man but is filled with much hope for his people.

This organization is the individual efforts. Its success is evidenced by the very large attendance of about two hundred or more. It is a creditable showing when it is known that this is the first annual Grand Lodge session of its kind. From a financial and numerical view point the organization is quite representative. It has delegates in attendance from Georgia, Florida, South Carolina and many from within the state.

The evening and night sessions were held at the Cherry Street A M E Church, where the welcome address and response were delivered.

Several interesting papers were read which if put into practice would prove beneficial to the Negro people.

At 8 30 p m a very interesting song service was held. The Rev Daniel Brown, Presiding Elder of Prattville District, delivered the Supreme Lodge sermon and used as a text Matt 11 28. Coming to Me, all ye that labor and are heavily laden, and I will give you rest. Rev Brown is a great preacher and sustained his reputation.

Rev L D Workman of Montgomery will preach to the First Colored Baptist Church by request of its pastor Dr P S I Hutchins. Rev C G Hatcher, Presiding Elder of the Columbia District will deliver a sermon before the Order at the Cherry St A M E Church tonight.

The Rifle.
As early as 1498 the citizens of Leipzig, Germany, possessed the germ of the future rifle, for their arms had a grooved bore, but the groove was slight. Not many years after—about 1520—Augustin Kutter of Nuremberg was celebrated for his slim grooved barrels in which the grooves had a spiral form. From this time on it was simply a matter of improvement the principle itself having been forever established by Kutter—New York American.

The red haired girl's face wore a worried look as she joined her luncheon cronies at table. "I can't order much for luncheon today," she announced. "I've just lost some money." "Money?" asked a sympathetic neighbor. "No dollars." "Humph! I don't call that much," remarked the office manager, who draws $25 a week. The red haired girl looked at her a moment. "Oh no," she said. "I was going to throw it in the street."

THERE'S A DIFFERENCE between the "bargain counter" shears and scissors and a high grade article. The former may be cheap in price because of poor material and convict labor, but are never satisfactory in the "long run."

The latter is made from selected steel, properly tempered, forged and finished and every part inspected before it leaves the factory. Costs a little more to begin with, but is always a source of satisfaction to the user.

Clauss' make of shears and scissors are always reliable.
